Headteacher's Blog

Whilst at West Borough, we hope that our pupils benefit from a wide range of activities, both inside and outside of the classroom, which enable them to practise and improve a range of skills. An example of this was last term's learning which resulted in our recent Art Gallery. We believe to be a good learner, children need a range of different skills and that with a growth mindset we can improve in many areas. Some of our pupils learn a musical instrument, which requires a lot of practise! On Monday, Mr Frewer, one of our music teachers, came into assembly to share a range of woodwind instruments with the children. If anyone is interested in learning an instrument, he has left fliers with the school office. Each year we host a music concert where children have an opportunity to perform. This will take place in Term 6 (details to follow).

On 18th May, our PTFA are hosting a Royal Family Picnic on the school field after school, to celebrate the Royal Wedding which takes place the following day. We know this will be a great event with lots of free activities for the children to join in. To help get us in the spirit, the children can come to school in different clothes on that day. They can dress as a prince or a princess or wear red, white and blue. Fingers crossed for good weather!
