Gingerbread gobbled by greedy fox!

On Friday evening, 5th October, the greedy fox crunched up the escaped Gingerbread man as he tried to cross the river in East Farleigh without getting wet.

The gingerbread man had been causing trouble across Maidstone after his escape from Gregg's bakery in the town centre. He had teased the animals at Little Fant Farm and was on the run from the police.

The Gingerbread Man was nearly caught when he got to the river.

The Gingerbread Man's final moments, captured by a nearby duck.

He was seen being helped across by a fox, but did not make it to the other side.. When questioned, the fox reported that "The Gingerbread Man was delicious."

The police have thanked Mr Fox for catching the gingerbread man and his co-operation in their investigation.
