

Thursday 4th February 2021

Spelling- let's practise our handwriting and learn these spellings.

This week we are looking at the 'g' sound made with the 'gu' grapheme.

- guide
- guitar
- guard
- guidebook

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

- Remember last week?
- What did we do?
- How did we do it?

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

Today we are going to use your plan to write our story. Each box needs to be a paragraph of at least five sentences.

Remember...

Adjectives to describe characters and settings.

Time conjunctions to sequence your writing.

Inverted commas to use speech.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 1

One sunny morning a little boy called Charlie Bucket woke up early. He was very excited because today he has about to have all his dreams come true. "I going to the factory!" shouted Charlie. Charlie's family were very poor so Charlie had a hard life, unbelievably he had won a golden ticket! This meant that he could go inside the most magically factory in the whole wide world.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 2

Later on, after Charlie had gobbled down his breakfast, he found himself waiting for the shiny factory gates to open. Charlie could feel butterflies flying around inside his tummy. "Calm down Charlie" whispered Grandpa Joe. He couldn't wait to meet the mysterious Mr Wonka. He had heard lots of exciting stories about the great man. After what seem like forever the huge gates slowly started to open.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 3

A moment later the gates were open and all the children and their adults ran to be the first into the factory. Charlie stood frozen to the spot. He couldn't move. Was this really about to happen? Was he really about to meet the fabulous Mr Wonka? "Hello dear children!" exclaimed Mr Wonka.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 4

A few moment later, Charlie found himself in a room fully of doors and mirrors. Mr Wonka was explaining that the group must stick together and not be tempted to go into any of the secret rooms. "You mustn't go snooping around!" Mr Wonka explained sternly. Suddenly Charlie realised that Grandpa Joe wasn't holding his hand. He looks around and couldn't see him anywhere. Where was he and what was Charlie going to do?

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 5

Charlie ran away reading the names of each of the rooms until he saw the one that he knew Grandpa Joe would be in. In bright gold letters on a midnight blue wooden door was written 'The Chocolate Room.' Charlie immediately knew Grandpa Joe wouldn't have been able to resist. Charlie burst through the door and the rich smell of delicious chocolate filled his nose. He ran around screaming "Grandpa Joe Grandpa Joe" until at last he found him.

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

For example...

Paragraph 6

Grandpa Joe's face was covered in the rich velvety chocolate. He had the biggest smile on his face and he was almost jumping for joy. Charlie shock him by the arm until he came out of his chocolate dream. "We have to go and find the others Grandpa, Mr Wonka will be cross" Charlie explained. They ran as fast as they could until the reached the group. "Oh hello Charlie..." said Mr Wonka. "I'm glad you found your naughty Grandpa" he whispered with a wink.