

Punctuation

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

I waited for an - hour Hilary never turned up.

I waited - for an hour Hilary never turned up.

I waited for an hour - Hilary never turned up.

I waited for an hour Hilary never - turned up.

Tick
One

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

The golf course (St. Andrews) hosted the British Open.

The golf course St. Andrews (hosted the British Open).

The golf course St. Andrews (hosted the British Open.)

(The golf course) St. Andrews hosted the British Open.

Tick
One

Punctuation

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham, juice, bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham juice and bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham, juice and bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese ham, juice and bread.

Tick
One

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

"I can't wait to get to the beach, are you excited?"

"I cant wait to get to the beach, are you excited?"

"I can't wait to get to the beach, are you excited"

"I can't wait to get to the beach are you excited?"

Tick
One

Answers – Punctuation

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

I waited for an - hour Hilary never turned up.

I waited - for an hour Hilary never turned up.

I waited for an hour - Hilary never turned up.

I waited for an hour Hilary never - turned up.

Tick
One

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

The golf course (St. Andrews) hosted the British Open.

The golf course St. Andrews (hosted the British Open).

The golf course St. Andrews (hosted the British Open.)

(The golf course) St. Andrews hosted the British Open.

Tick
One

Answers – Punctuation

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham, juice, bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham juice and bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese, ham, juice and bread.

Leroy needed to buy cheese ham, juice and bread.

Tick
One

Which sentence is punctuated correctly?

"I can't wait to get to the beach, are you excited?"

"I cant wait to get to the beach, are you excited?"

"I can't wait to get to the beach, are you excited"

"I can't wait to get to the beach are you excited?"

Tick
One

Friday 5th February 2021

WALT plan a suspense story

S2S: I can

- follow the structure of a story
- sequence events
- use bullet points to list

Planning

Now is the time to get planning!

You can just write your ideas in bullet points or use simple sentences. The more you get on your plan, the easier your writing will be!

If you want more paragraphs or sections you could split some of the boxes in two. Or write your additional sections or paragraphs in your book or on a piece of paper.

If you are writing additional sections in your book, just keep in mind which section it follows.

Underlying pattern of a FINDING TALE	Plan of your ideas/innovation
Opening Main characters in an everyday setting Find an interesting object
Build up Danger arrives
Dilemma Danger increases and it looks like there is no escape
Resolution Danger overcome in some way
Ending Main characters safe More information revealed about the object/rewards.

Activity - Planning

Use this week's learning and the story Adventure at Sandy Cove to plan your story. Use the planning template provided to record your ideas.

Here's an example of how you can use the story Adventure at Sandy Cove:

Story structure	Original – Adventure at Sandy Cove	My own
Opening My characters find something	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Joe & Rahul – beach• Searching for shells• Find small black bag• Tug it loose• Sparkling jewels inside	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Older brother (Marc)-14 yrs old and younger brother (Zac)-9 yrs old• Their dog (Sammy) digs up an old map of their area whilst chasing a cat under a wire fence• Boys run to Sammy find the map• Map leads to hidden treasure• Woods in front of them• Old abandoned building to the right

Reflection

Friday 5th February 2021

WALT plan a suspense story

S2S: I can

- follow the structure of a story
- sequence events
- use bullet points to list

I feel more confident about ...